

ABSTRACT: An improved measuring system that aligns with the decimal system and the speed of light, and yields user friendly results when converting between U.S. linear, metric, and the speed-of-light measuring systems. It is an intelligent system, one that society will easily learn and embrace.